6 Y
EDINBURGH
Y 16
67

Andrew Paton
Glasgow July 16. 1867.
G E
GLASGOW
JY 16
67
POSTAGE
ONE PENNY
POSTAGE
159
ONE PENNY
Wm Lloyd Garrison Esq
Huntly Lodge
Napier Road
Edin.

I am very glad you have given me a sketch of your route from your present delightful hastings place, to London, that I will endeavor to meet you. I shall try to secure for you the rooms in Southampton Street.

My thanks for the Lewis's words quoted from Mrs Gaskins letter. I hope to be able to write her by the China.

I am scribbling this with seven grandchildren about me, to excuse blunders. There are many other things I desire to say, but must leave them till I write you again. I am gaining strength, but am still a poor Critter.

With affectionate remembrance to Mrs Nichol, Fanny & Bonkin,

Yours ever dear Sad friend

Geo Thompson

Birkenhead, July 10/57

be bestowed upon him. My love to him, and to Fannie & Frank. Oh how I wish I could be with you in England now!"

Dubbin, you noticed in the Standard of June 22, the letter from Col. Chas E. Moss, on the subject of Electing a colored Vice-President, and suggesting "the Election of Wendell Phillips, as President, and Wm Wm. Langston as "Vice President, in 1868. The Republican party would not dare "refuse the nomination of this "ticket, if resolutely pressed" Is not this significant?

I enclose for you reading, if you have not already seen them, the Speeches of Johnson & Lovland in Boston. The Speech of the latter is a curiosity. Its object seems to be to obtain the abject submission of the North to the policy and Edicts of Andrew Johnson.

"We discussed the usual topics in a very earnest way, & there was a great deal more sheath than chaff. Robert Purvis & E. M. Davis came, full of zeal for the abolition of Slavery; a work which they insisted was far from accomplished. Edward brought a great bill of Anti-Slavery Standards for distribution, & hoped hard to get subscribers, a thing he never did during the ~~last~~ years when we stood under the awful shadow of Slavery, and there was real need of such a paper to arouse the people to the work of abolition. In attempting to modify our Testimony on Reconstruction, in conformity with his views, failed utterly, and I doubt if he got even three subscribers. ~~&~~ ~~&~~ ~~&~~ Dont fail of keeping me posted in relation to Garrison's movements, & the honors that may is possible that the Lewis's will still be in London, I will remain there till Mr Lewis comes to Liverpool, to sail by the China, on Saturday, the 26th. When he is gone, Mrs L. and her son will proceed to Scotland. I hope to see them before I go to Leeds, where I have promised to be on Saturday.

I have a letter from C. Wheeler, dated June 19. In it he says "Our meeting at Longwood was, as usual, very interesting. We had not only Robert Collyer, but three other Unitarian Ministers, noble young men all of them. A part of the time Lucretia Mott was also with us & we all felt her presence to be a benediction, while her words of encouragement & counsel were more than enjoyed."

You have been gaining health & vigor, day by day. You are indeed renewing your youth. Sincerely hope that this process of rejuvenation may go on, even to the moment of your reappearance at Rockledge; and be thereafter continued, that your beloved country may have the benefit of your further labors for her regeneration. It will greatly gladden the hearts of your family, your friends & the thousands by whom you are appreciated and esteemed, to see you come back erect, resolute, and reestablished in health & energy.

In a letter received from Mrs Thompson this morning I am

Arthur Lodge, Clarkston,
Blackheath Westside
Tuesday Morning, July 16.
1867.

My dear Davidson

I [illegible] just in has brought me [illegible] kind letters but [illegible] especially grateful to you for your [illegible] & kind attendance. accept my affectionate thanks. I cannot express how delighted I am to hear you have taken such energetic steps for securing the steady improvement in your health now that the fine weather is [illegible] your side. Notwithstanding the severe [illegible] I encounter daily [illegible] your mental & physical powers

86B